發展局文物保育專員辦事處(辦事處)於 2008年4月成立以來,積極與關注文物的機構 及團體建立伙伴關係,向公眾推廣文物保育及 活化。辦事處與皇家亞洲學會(香港分會)攜 手合辦這個展覽,展出一百多張逾35年歷史 的照片。這些攝影作品不僅彰顯我們的歷史 建築,還記錄了賦予其意義的人物及社群。

皇家亞洲學會(香港分會)根據當時義務秘書 戴雅文先生(Mr. Ian Diamond)的建議,於 1974年5月展開攝影調查。由於當時政府計劃 在西區和半山區進行重建,故學會選定首先調 查該兩區。攝影調查為期將近4年,大約於 1978年完成。所有參與調查的攝影師均是義 工,來自學會及南華體育會攝影會。

這次攝影調查並非要製作一輯香港的舊照片集,而是要記錄當時快將消失的建築、活動和人情事理。這些事物對當時該兩區的居民來說,平常不過,但正因為如此,一般大約2,000張照片,內容包括樓宇、各種構築物、建築特色、街景、風俗、行業和人物。這些如片保留了香港1970年代中期的記錄,調實與出人來說,照片將會日基珍貴。雖然都至小組還預期對於研究者和且從對香港雖然都会小組入來說,照片將會日基珍貴。雖然不是起眼的景物,但整套作和一般市民的生活面貌,都值得我們認識的。

除了西區和半山區外,調查原先計劃還會在 九龍甚至新界進行。由於攝影師須投入大量 時間,而參與的人數又不穩定,所以於1980 年代初在灣仔拍攝了小部分照片後,計劃便 告終止。儘管如此,我們仍然感激調查小組 付出的努力。

在拍攝第一批相片35年後的今天,我們可以全面理解調查小組所作努力的真正價值。他們的作品捕捉了早已成為記憶的建築環境和生活方式。這些照片雖然不少均具藝術價值,但這並非它們獲挑選展出的主要原因。選擇這些照片是要凸顯樓宇、街道,風俗或行業方面的重要特色。是次展覽讓我們意識到,香港在決定擁抱未來而非過去時所失去的東西——有些是理所當然的,有些卻令人深感惋惜。

這些照片呈現的建築環境和其中的居民,無論在過去和現在,獨特的、美麗的、典型的、奇特的和平常的,我們都向他們致敬。其中部分景物仍原封不動,但許多已不復存在。照片的影像把已消失的事物捕捉下來,這或許可重建我們對地方的歸屬感。正如莎士比亞說:「讓我們運用想像力」,一起努力保存這一小片迷人和層次豐富的地方,及生趣盎然的生活面貌。

Since its establishment in April 2008, the Commissioner for Heritage's Office (CHO) has been actively building partnerships with heritage groups and organisations to promote awareness of heritage conservation and revitalisation. We are glad to invite the Royal Asiatic Society (RAS) to work together on this heritage photo exhibition, which celebrates not only our historic buildings, but also the people and communities giving meaning to them.

The RAS photographic survey was initiated in May 1974 at the suggestion of Mr. Ian Diamond, the then Honorary Secretary of the RAS (Hong Kong Branch). The survey covering Western District and Mid-Levels was to last for nearly four years. The last batch of photographes was taken in about 1978. The photographers, all volunteers, came from both the RAS (Hong Kong Branch) and the South China Athletic Association Camera Club. The Western District and the Mid-Levels were selected as the first areas for the survey due to the Government's planned redevelopments.

The purpose of the survey was not to form a collection of old photographs of Hong Kong, but to record architecture, activities and common scenes, all of which were rapidly disappearing. These things were familiar to those who lived there at that time but would not necessarily have been seen as significant because of their very familiarity. In the event, about 2,000 photographs were taken, which included buildings, various structures, architectural features, street scenes, customs, trades as well as people. Apart from the obvious desirability of preserving a record of Hong Kong in the mid-1970s, the survey team also anticipated that the photographs would have a growing future value to researchers and others interested in Hong Kong life. What had been recorded in the photographs were not "the great and the good", it was believed that the total ensemble should be recognized including the less significant vernacular architecture and the ordinary people.

The original intention was to survey other districts in addition to Western and Mid-Levels, including Kowloon and even the New Territories. However, the survey came to an end in the early 1980s after a small number of photographs of Wanchai had been taken. The significant commitment of time that the photographers had to make combined with the fluctuations in the number of available participants were probably the factors that saw the survey stop short of the original goals. We are nonetheless indebted to their efforts.

Now, thirty-five years after the first photographs were taken, the true value of the efforts of the survey team can be fully appreciated. Their work captured a built environment and way of life that have passed into memory. The photographs shown here have not been selected for their artistic merit although many qualify on those grounds. Rather, they were chosen to highlight the important features, be they buildings, streets, customs or trades. This exhibition will allow all of us to appreciate what was lost – sometimes deservedly, other times with deep regret – in Hong Kong's determination to embrace its future, not its past.

These photographs pay homage to what was and is unique, beautiful, typical, quirky and ordinary both in terms of its built environment and its residents. Some of it is still there but much is not; these absences are recaptured in these images which may serve to recreate our sense of place. As Shakespeare would have it, "on your imaginary forces work" and help to keep this fascinating, multi-layered scrap of land and life alive.
